Business Journal Honors Deckman

Published on 9/19/2004

New London — The law firm of Tobin, Carberry, O'Malley, Riley, Selinger (TCORS) announced that Alan J. Deckman, its director of government relations, has been selected as one of 40 outstanding young business achievers by the Hartford Business Journal.

His photo along with a list of his professional and community accomplishments recently appeared in the business journal. Deckman is the principal lobbyist for many corporate clients as well as nonprofit organizations. He was honored at a breakfast sponsored by the business journal earlier this month. The law firm is based on Broad Street in New London. ■
